

FA LA LA LA LA, BLAH BLAH,
BLAH BLAH.

This year, Reputation Ink is replacing the ho, ho-hum in your holiday with the mother lode for naughty and nice marketers:

CRIMES AGAINST CONTENT

THE CONTENT MARKETING & PR PARTY GAME

It's less Christmas miracle and more total mockery of this industry we're in together, full of marketing ScenarEOs (SEO — see what we did there?) and solutions you shouldn't take to heart — whether you choose to Play Nice or end up on Santa's Sh*t List with us.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR OWN CRIMES AGAINST CONTENT GAME:

Painstakingly cut out all of the ScenarEOs, Play Nice and Santa's Sh*t List cards below along with these game rules.

HOW TO PLAY:

It's like Cards Against Humanity, but with a content marketing spin.

- 1 Each player draws five answer cards (Play Nice, Santa's Sh*t List or a combo).
- 2 The person who cursed last is the CHIEF CONTENT OFFENDER (CCO) for the first round and flips over a marketing ScenarEO card. The other players address that question or fill-in-the-blank ScenarEO with their most (in)appropriate answer card, playing it face down on the table.
- 3 The CCO reads the other players' answers aloud and chooses the winner for that round, who hangs on to that ScenarEO card as a "point."
- 4 The same drill goes around the table in a clockwise formation until one of the players has won a total of five ScenarEO cards, becoming the SMOOTH CRIMINAL and winner of Crimes Against Content.
